

Kentuckian Queen

Sylvia Jett, representing Kappa Alpha fraternity, was crowned "Queen of Queens" by President Dickey at the Kentuckian dance Saturday night. Sylvia is a junior in the College of Education, and is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Sylvia Jett Named 'Queen Of Queens'

A pert, brown-haired lovely with sparkling brown eyes reigns as the Queen of Queens at the University of Kentucky.

Her Majesty is Sylvia Jett, a junior elementary education major. Sylvia was accorded her title Saturday night at the annual Kentuckian-Lamp and Cross Dance in the Student Union Ballroom.

Her official title is Kentuckian Queen—a crown generally acknowledged as the most coveted on the UK campus.

Sylvia was picked to wear the crown from a group of 29 contestants, who vied for the honor in Friday night's judging at Memorial Hall. From this group, seven finalists were chosen—Jane Brock, representing Alpha Delta Pi; Nancy Combs, Alpha Gamma Delta; Susan Haselden, Delta Delta Delta; Nancy Saufley, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jane Thornburg, Phi Kappa Tau (DDD); Sally Weidenhoefer, Phi Delta Theta (DDD), and Miss Jett, Kappa Alpha (DDD).

From this bevy of beauties, Miss Jett was chosen as Queen; Miss Haselden was named first attendant; and Miss Thornburg, second attendant. Due to a clerical error, Nancy Saufley was introduced Saturday night as first attendant.

The new queen is a native of Richmond, where she attended Model High School. She gave fair warning in her high school days of things to come, being named Miss Madison County Valentine in 1954, and also serving as cheerleader two years.

The petite, 5-4, 110 pound queen lists swimming, dancing, and golfing (high 70's or low 80's) as hobbies. She also is a devotee to jazz ("But I'm no expert.")

Honors garnered since coming to UK in September, 1954 include the title of Lances Queen as a sophomore; and Queen of the Sigma Chi Derby in her freshman year. She was also a member of the Kentuckian Queen's Court in 1956.

Miss Jett has no definite plans after graduation, except that "I may teach for a couple of years." Marriage? "Not for a while."

She plans to visit New York this summer, and will probably work there.

Her reaction at being named Queen? "I was surprised, and very, very thrilled and pleased."

AP Reporter Vance To Talk Here Tuesday

Associated Press reporter Kyle Vance, recently honored by the Kentucky Press Association for his work in uncovering a false check scandal in the Dept. of Economic Security, will speak here Tuesday.

His address will be at 4 p.m. in Room 211, Journalism Building.

Vance, the AP Frankfort correspondent, broke the story of the check fraud on December 10, 1956. The story, the facts of which were hidden beneath a curtain of secrecy, revealed that checks totaling $640, made out to non-existent claimants, were cashed in October.

As a result of the disclosure, the supervisor of the IBM section of the Division of Unemployment, Joseph J. Resing, was arrested and later indicted by the Franklin Circuit Court Grand Jury.

Following the story's release, Vance was praised editorially by many newspapers throughout the state, as well as being commended by Franklin Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery. Ardery told the grand jury when it met, "Immediately before your eyes is a distinguished citizen of this city (Frankfort).

Founders Day Celebration To Commemorate Library

The University's annual Founders Day program, to take place at 8 o'clock tonight in Memorial Hall, will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Margaret I. King Library.

The program also observes the 92nd anniversary of the University of Kentucky.

Two UK alumni in the library profession will be honored during the program. Miss Margaret I. King, UK librarian from 1909 to 1948, and David H. Clift, Chicago, executive secretary of the American Library Association and the Founders Day speaker, will receive bronze plaques from President Frank G. Dickey, who will preside at the program.

Clift, the principal speaker for the program, is the most "prominent alumnus of the University who is in the library profession." He will speak on "Librarianship in Kentucky, Today and Tomorrow."

Miss King, a native of Lexington, also graduated from the School of Library Service at Columbia University. Under her 39 year guidance, the UK library grew from a few thousand books to half a million volumes.

Dr. William S. Webb, UK's distinguished professor of physics, will review "The University Library 50 Years Ago."

Certificates for 29 or more years of service in the library profession will be presented to 49 Kentucky librarians and to the University Library.

The citations will be presented by Clarence R. Graham, Louisville, former president of the American Library Association.

DAVID H. CLIFT

Special music will be presented by members of the University music faculty and student body. They are Robert Requa, Melvin Dickinson and Hammon W. Porter, organ; Kenneth Wright and Engenie Baird, violin; Robert Lancaster, viola, and Gordon Kinney, cello.

The birthday celebration will be open to the public.

Founders Day, marking the anniversary of the establishment of UK in 1865, originated 13 years ago. Feb. 22 was the date on which the Kentucky General Assembly approved a bill organizing the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. This was chosen as the logical day for the celebration.

The Founders Day program was established following a request by the Board of Trustees that an appropriate program be held on the campus annually to mark the UK anniversary.

The first such program, held in 1945, consisted of an exhibit of historical photographs, maps, books and records depicting the 80-year history of the University. Among the materials included were the first diploma awarded by the Agriculture and Mechanical division of the Kentucky University, a 1866 map of Lexington, and pictures of campus buildings, faculty members and students.

The second Founders Day commemorated Henry Stites Barker, UK's fourth president.

The carillon bells in Memorial Hall were dedicated by President H. L. Donovan in the 82nd anniversary celebration.

Last year's celebration, the 91st, paid tribute to 150 Kentucky teachers who had 45 or more years of teaching experience.

Since its beginning 13 years ago, Founders Day has not only commemorated the establishment of UK, but it has honored scientists, ballad singers, UK presidents and many others.

In 1945, no speeches were planned for the celebration. Instead, an all-music and drama program was presented by University personnel.

The cornerstone of Memorial Coliseum was laid by Governor Earle C. Clements and Dr. H. L. Donovan as the high point of the 1949 program.

A week-long program was planned around the dedication and official opening of the Fine Arts Building on UK's 85th birthday.

Car Registration

Only one week left in which to register cars!

All students with Kentucky-licensed automobiles must register them at the Dean of Men's office by next Friday.

No one will be allowed to register his car unless he has acquired his 1957 license plates. State deadline for acquiring these plates is also Friday.

Students with cars bearing out-of-state plates must register these cars by the date on which their 1957 licenses must be installed.

A fee of $2.00 will be charged for late registration.

UK Frats Top Nation In Grades

UK's fraternity men are tops in the nation scholastically for the third time in four years.

Fraternity scholarship here was 2.4 overall—6.90 per cent above the nationwide average in state universities for 1955-56.

This information was recently released by Col. Ralph W. Wilson, executive director of the College Fraternity Scholarship Processing group located here in Lexington.

LSU edged UK into second place in 1953-54, but UK has come back to the top for the past two years.

Wilson said, "there has been no precedent for such accomplishments . . . it simply does not seem probable that any one state university could take such complete scholastic control."

"It must be a source of great pride to the University of Kentucky to know that its fraternities stand supreme in scholarship! . . . We congratulate the Kentucky fraternities."

Four fraternities tied for first place here at UK, with standings of 2.6. They were: Delta Tau Delta, Farmhouse, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Triangle.

Scholastic standings for the past semester will not be completed for release until the end of the 30 day period during which students are allowed to make up grades of "I" or "X".

ID Cards Ready

Students can pick up I. D. cards all next week at the Coliseum, room 5, behind the ticket office.

Cards can be obtained Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m.-12:00 noon and from 1:30 p.m.-5:00 p.m., and on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

All students who have not had their pictures made are to report to the lobby of the Coliseum Monday, Feb. 25, from 1-5 in the afternoon.

Kernel Kutie

Vivacious Jennifer Snow receives the honor of being this week's Kernel Kutie. Jennifer is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Her home is in Charleston, W. Va.

Dr. Ben H. Black Chosen Most Popular Professor

Dr. Ben H. Black, professor of English, has been chosen by the student body as the most popular professor on campus.

With this newly acclaimed honor, Dr. Black will reign as Rex of the Mardi Gras dance Friday, March 1. The Newman Club, which sponsors the dance, held the yearly contest to determine the campus' favorite professor.

Dr. Black specializes in Elizabethan drama, particularly Shakespeare. He is teaching freshman English, business English, Shakespeare and Romanticism.

The 43 year old professor is a native of Campbellsville. He received his A.B. degree from UK in 1935 and later went to Harvard University where he received his M.A. degree in 1940. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan in 1952.

His wife is assistant principal of Henry Clay High School and Dean of Girls. They were married in 1942 and reside on McDowell Road.

During World War II, Dr. Black was a radio gunner in a test squadron and flew in every kind of bomber that the Air Force used. He spent the last six months of his four-year hitch writing the history of the Air Force.

Dr. Black has taught at Campbellsville High School, Henry Clay High School and at the University of Michigan.

Sweater Swing Will Be Held Tomorrow Night

A "Sweater Swing" will be held in the Student Union Ballroom after the Kentucky-Alabama game Saturday night. The dance will last from 9:30 until midnight.

There is no charge for admission, but students must show their ID cards.

Music will be furnished by Frank Wagner and his orchestra.

The dance is sponsored by the Student Union Social Committee. Students may come stag or drag.

Russian, German Offered At Night

Two new courses are being offered this semester by the Modern Languages Department during the evening classes.

Beginning Russian and beginning German are being taught for the first time at night. In addition the Department offers French and Spanish during the evening.

Dr. William Schmalstieg, a Slavic language specialist, is teaching the Russian class. Dr. Gerhart Probst, a Fulbright guest at UK, is instructing the German class.

All courses are three hours credit and are offered to UK students as well as townspeople. The classes are held for two and a half hours either on Monday or Wednesday nights.

only, and one for the larger ensembles. Trophies will be presented to the winners and runners-up in each group.

UK To Get Three Place Switchboard

A plan to clear up the much-discussed campus telephone problem has been under way for several months. UK Comptroller George R. Kavanaugh announced Wednesday.

Kavanaugh said that the needed equipment for expanding the switchboard was ordered last September. The delay is due, he said, to the manufacturer's inability to supply the equipment at present.

However, the equipment will be shipped this spring, and UK will have a three-position switchboard instead of the present two positions. This will mean another operator on duty at all times, Kavanaugh said.

The switchboard will also have four more outside lines, bringing the total to 30.

Holmes Hall and the Pharmacy Building will be included in the campus exchange. These expansions are to be completed by September, Kavanaugh said.

Engineers Leave For CE Meeting

Six civil engineering students and an instructor left Tuesday morning to attend the meeting of the mid-south American Society of Civil Engineers in Jackson, Miss.

The group included Leonard Hardin, M. C. Beattie, Darrell Veach, C. P. Kroboth, Bill Bennett and Charles Murphy.

Anthropology Museum

A group of townspeople and faculty examine the Arche Culture exhibit of the Anthropology Museum at the official opening Wednesday night. Dr. Douglas Schwarz, museum director, estimated that 175 visitors, largely Lexingtonians, were present during the first hour.

Agriculture Council To Meet Monday

Dr. Stanley Wall, associate dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, announced that the Agriculture Council will meet Monday, Feb. 25.

This council acts as a liaison between the Dean and the students. Meeting dates of the various organizations in the College are arranged so as to present no conflict. The annual awards banquet and convocation are included in their duties.

Miss Lois Combs, teacher of household equipment and home management classes in the Home Economics Department, will attend the Hotpoint Home Economics Institute's Use-Value Training meeting in Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 26.

One Week Left To Apply For All Campus Sing

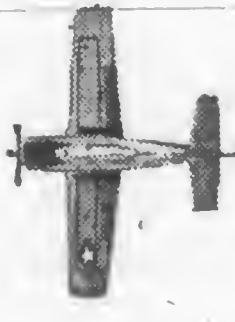

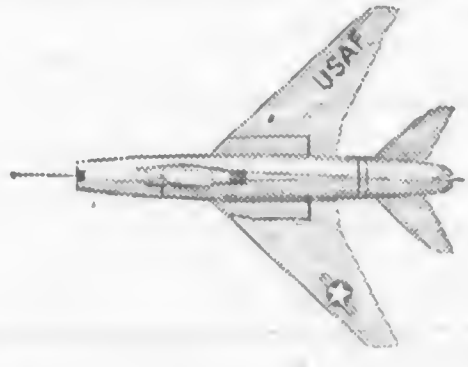

Only one week remains in which organizations can submit applications for the University's All-Campus Sing, to be held in Memorial Hall March 21-23.

All groups interested in participating in the contest should mail their applications to Ouida Farmer, Box 93, UK. The application must be postmarked not later than March 1 and should be accompanied by a $5 entry fee.

Preliminary judging in the women's division will take place on Thursday, March 21. Men's preliminaries will be the following night, with the finals scheduled for Saturday, March 23.

Four groups from each division will be selected to appear in the final competition. Three awards will be made. There will be two men's divisions, one for quartets

Little Women

The Marches are a very happy family – and for no reason whatsoever. They are poor as snakes; they work from cockerow to evensong; their dear old father Philip is away with the Union armies; and their mattresses are lumpy.

Still, nothing can dampen the spirits of madcap Meg, jocular Jo, buoyant Beth, animated Amy, and crazy old Marmee, as the merry March girls lovingly call their lovable mother.

Well sir, one Christmas the March girls get an invitation to a ball. But Beth reminds the sisters that they can hardly go traipsing off and leave poor Marmee alone at Christmas time. The sisters swear a lot, but they finally agree with Beth.

Marmec, however, will not hear of it. "Land's sake, little women!" she cries. "You must go to the ball and have some fun. There will be punch and ginger snaps and confetti. Best of all, there will be morris dancing. Oh, how your father and I used to love that!"

"I never knew father could dance," cries Meg.

"Oh, yeah?" cries Marmee. "You should have seen Philip morris!"

"Was Philip a good morrisher?" cries Jo.

"The best," cries Marmec. "Philip could morris in long size and regular and was full of natural goodness and fresh and firm and unfiltered too."

The girls are cheered to hear this and go to the ball. Marmie stays home all alone, but soon gets a wonderful surprise: Philip comes back from the war!

When the girls return from the ball, they find Marmee and Philip merrising, and they cry "Huzzah!" and throw their bonnets in the air, where they are to this day. —

Apathy, Thy Name Is College

Once Upon a Time there was a mighty Boat, named, we shall say, Progress 1956-57.

This Boat was launched from the Shore of September, bound for a far distant Shore, one called A Better University.

Powering this Vessel were four staunch Oarsmen, each wielding a sturdy Oar. Each Oar was made of solid Mahogany, and was of the most perfect Construction.

The muscled Oarsmen were named Zest, Enthusiasm, Ardor, and Zeal. The Oars, too, had Names. They were called The Little Kentucky Derby, Sunday Night Library Hours, Longer Hours for Women, and the Night Grill.

As the Boat began its Journey upon the Lake of the University of Kentucky, the four staunch Oarsmen were observed in perfect Harmony, as bent his awesome Might to his Labors, in seeking to propel the Vessel to its proposed Destination.

But now, unhappily, the Boat is practically motionless in the midst of the Lake, while the inexorable Sands of Time continue in their unhurried, but relentless, Movement.

Now the Oarsmen have been replaced. In their Stead are reposing Four known as Lethargy, Opposition, Excuses, and Lack of Organization.

Watching the Boat's Journey are Many. There are Students, some of Whom are completely disinterested in its Fortunes, some Few of Whom are vitally interested, and Some whose only Interest is in seeing One or More of the Oarsmen reach his Destination.

Watching, too, are Others—Persons whose Interests are somewhat more closely bound to the Interests of the Vessel than are those of the casual Observer. These include Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson and his Library Staff, whose Opposition to the inclusion of the Oar known as Sunday Night Library Hours may result in its being cast Overboard, never again to reappear; Vice President Frank Peterson, who wishes to replace the Oar called Night Grill with One bearing the Name of Wildcat Grill, but who may change his Opinion; the House President's Council, under the Guidance of Harriet Hart, who wish to weigh the Oar named Later Hours for Women with so much Thought that it may soon become a lifeless Burden; and the Little Derby Committee, apparently so laden with other Problems that it has forgotten its Protegé.

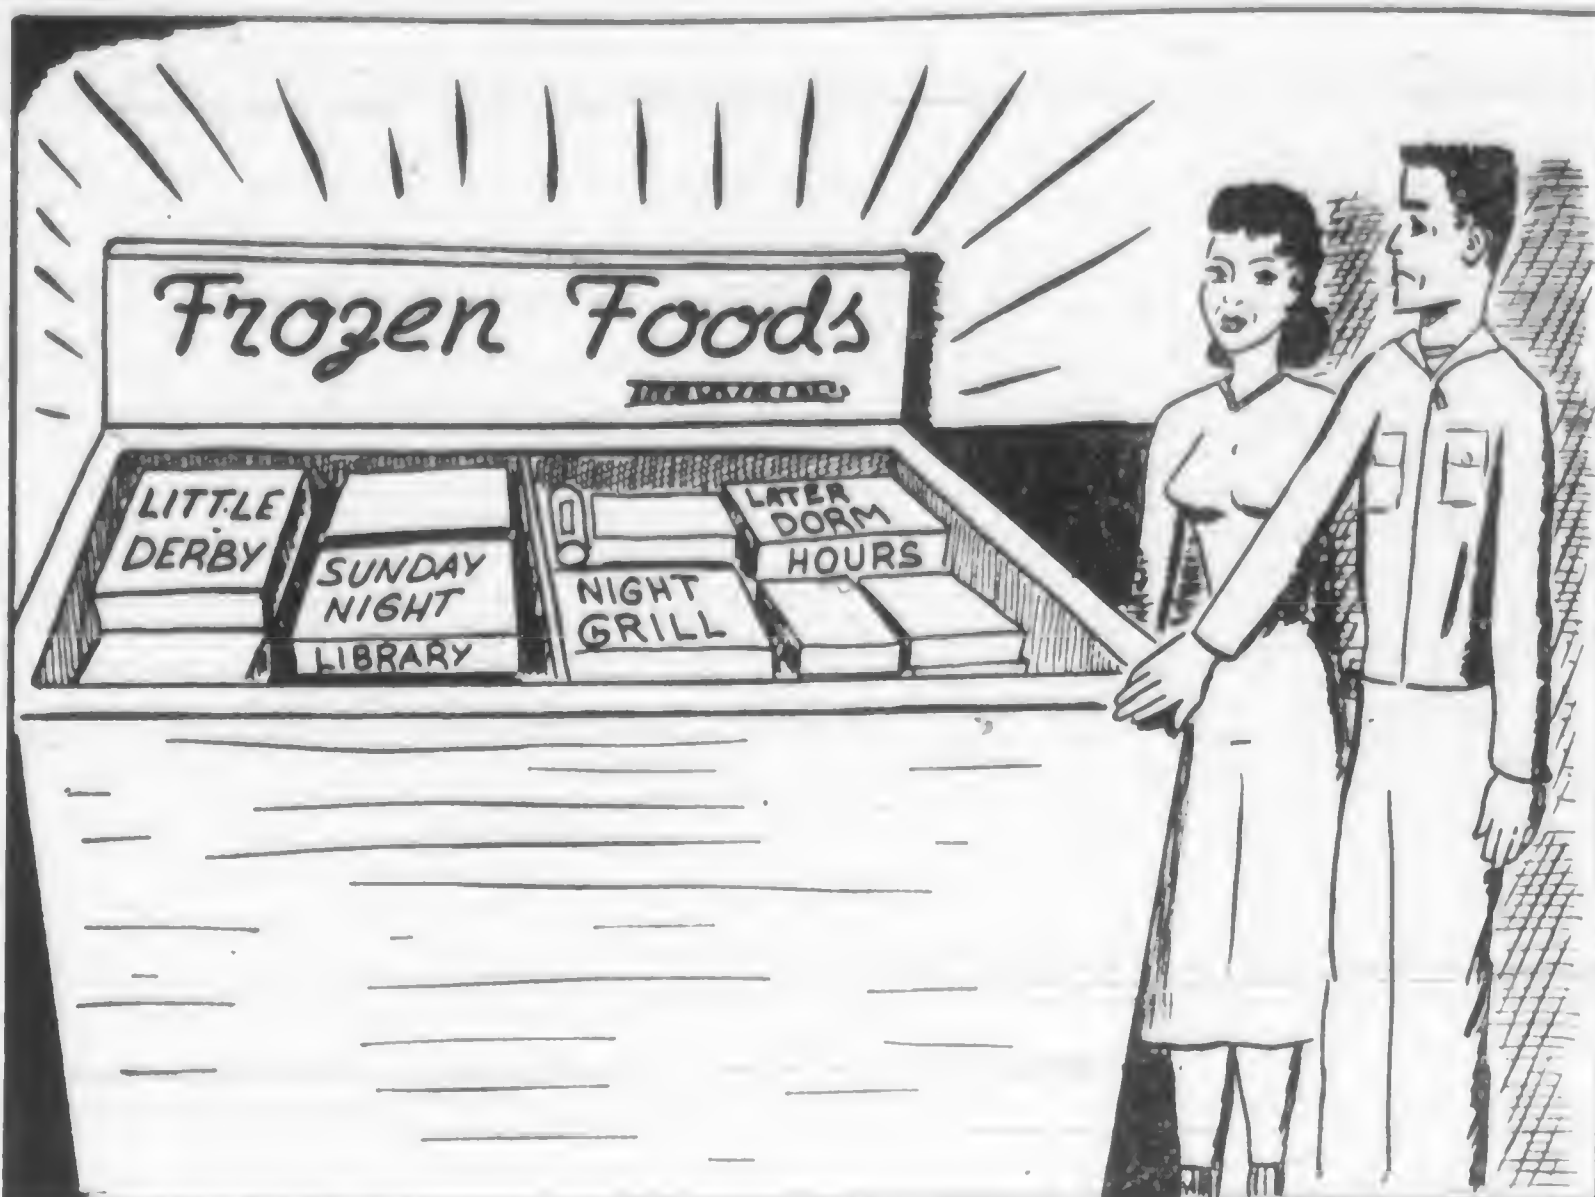

Hovering over the stagnant Scene is a large Raven quoting, not "Nevermore," but "I told You So," as he watches the slowly sinking Vessel.

A few Rays of Sunshine still pervade the Setting. One of these Rays is called Student Government Association, which is earnestly trying to break through the Shadow surrounding the Night Grill and Later Women's Hours. Another carries the name of several University Administrators—Dickey, Martin, and Others—who may, and do, contribute Moral Support, but who cannot supply all the Impetus needed for the Successful Completion of the Boat's Voyage.

Needed to Break through the massive Cloud Barrier surrounding the idle Vessel and cleanse it of its unhealthy Oarsmen are Rays called Organized Student Support—Rays which will illuminate the scene and enable the Interested Observers to see the original Oarsmen are not Dead, but Dormant—Rays which will give the original Oarsmen Strength to assume their rightful Positions, and guide the Boat to its proper Destination, regardless of Obstacles.

If the Boat is to fulfill its Mission and reach the Opposite Shore, the present Oarsmen must be cast aside; they must be replaced with the original Ones. If not, another Vessel will set sail in the coming September, and again in the Next, and the Next. Each will have to be fitted with the same Oars.

This cannot be called Progress.

Professor Black Deserves Title

Had we been asked to name UK's Most Popular Professor, we could hardly have thought of one more deserving of the title than Ben Black, who was accorded the honor in a campus-wide student vote, and who will reign as King Rex at the annual Mardi Gras dance as a result.

We ran into Black while a struggling sophomore, attempting to fight our way through the maze of lower division requirements necessary for graduation.

One of these required courses was Romanticism. Black took this class, composed almost entirely of persons who were there not through choice, but because they had to be, and removed it from the ranks of dreary monotony, converting it into a very enjoyable two hours a week.

So, to Ben Black, who taught us the difference between Mickey Spillane and Rabelais; between Rousseau and Rowdy Dan; between Cervantes and Cecil B. DeMille, and who kept us happy while doing it, we say Congratulations. They couldn't have made a wiser selection.

Here 'n There

Were the University of Kentucky ever to engage in a top-secret project, we can think of none worthier to guard this secret than our friends at Maintenance and Operations. Their ability to "refuse to be quoted" is becoming legendary.

Apparently the fraternity men at UK don't spend all their time in dimly-lit taverns, as is sometimes claimed. A record of achieving the top scholastic standing in the nation for the third time in four years is one which every fraternity member at the University should be justly proud of.

We see by a story in this week's Kernel that the Law School will soon hold their annual Libel Show, in which they will elaborate upon the "idiocyncrasies" of faculty members. Don't tell us our professors have those awful things, too.

The proposed expansion of the University telephone system should certainly alleviate the present situation somewhat. One very sensible suggestion which we would pass on is that callers attempt to look up the number beforehand rather than relying on the operators to perform that chore—they already have enough to do.

Isn't the aroma of approaching Spring Sweet?—especially around fertilizer time.

Judging Attacked

To The Editor:

Whoa there padner, let's rein up a minute on our hostile criticism of the questionable officiating we witnessed during Monday night's Vandy game. It seems that right in our own back yard, and only one week ago today, there was some questionable officiating in a beauty contest to select the Kentuckian Queen and her court.

A friend of mine, an excellent judge of feminine beauty, and I had the good fortune to sit a scant two rows behind the three notable judges of the contest. I am NOT criticizing the seven girls they selected as finalists—they were all very pleasant to view, nor am I taking a blast at the three judges. I have no doubt in my mind that they did the best job of selecting the winners as it was humanly possible for them to do. My beef is in the method of judging used in the contest. It was lousy.

Since my view of the candidates was practically the same as that of the three judges, I was able to determine one thing. It was difficult to get a good clear look at the girls. We were at a poor angle and at too great a distance. Each girl looked in general somewhat like the next. Please, no insinuation about my eyesight. It is 20/20 without specs.

Because of their poor location, the judges selected as a finalist one girl who was supporting the Wrigley Co. by chewing their gum. This does not show too much poise or class, such as a contest winner should have.

Taking nothing away from the seven finalists, it is obvious to me at least, that when such pretties as Miss Regina O'Brien and Miss Nyla Harper aren't given a call back, something is wrong—that was the location of the judges.

I would like to suggest to the next organization sponsoring a beauty contest, that they conduct the judging in the same manner as done in Atlantic City. This would entail a close examination of each contestant by the judges, thus revealing certain flaws not noticeable from a distance. Then, and only then, can we have an accurate evaluation of the wealth of feminine loveliness that abounds the UK campus.

Is It 'Teacheritis'?

To The Editor:

It appears to this writer that your editorial in the February 15 issue of The Kernel was quite unnecessary. I refer to the statement concerning Stylus and Professor Grebstein. I would suggest that there may be a little "teacheritis" in this reference, or, did you ever have a class with Professor Grebstein?

The inquisitive mind, searching for truth, would hardly stop the search simply because of "the opening line." May you, in the future, try to be a little less "clever" and a bit more honest.

Sincerely,
Lee King

Home Ec Department Displays Student's Work

By HARRIET HATCHELL

The handiwork of Jane Loyd, Home Economics senior, is on display in the Home Economics Building. A tailored green suit, made by Jane, is in an exhibition case on the third floor of the building.

The suit can be used as a basic garment for spring and shows the latest trend in fashion, Jane said. It is made of wool hopsacking weave with a belt across the back, has a flowered print lining, three-quarter length sleeves, and a straight skirt.

Matching accessories from Stewart's, are on display beside the suit. The accessories include yellow gloves, a brown-yellow hat, a yellow flower for a note of gaiety, and a brown bag and shoes. The brown and gold motif is continued in the costume jewelry displayed.

Jane's suit shows good workmanship and superb tailoring. Approximately 90 hours and $30 went into making the suit, and an "A" in tailoring class.

Jane is from Elizabethtown. She is treasurer of Phi Upsilon Omicron, a member and former social chairman of Alpha Xi Delta. She will graduate in June.

Jane became interested in sewing in high school. She entered DAR Home Economics contests, winning second place once in a state-wide dress-making contest.

She plans to go into retail merchandizing upon graduation. Jane has a 3.0 overall standing.

Clothing Specialist Gives Dressing Tip

First steps toward a woman's being well dressed start with thinking and planning, said Miss Rachel Rowland, extension specialist in clothing at UK.

Whether the new garments for spring are to be made at home or bought ready made, it is not too soon to start thinking about them, she said.

Miss Rowland said that applying these questions to your wardrobe will result in a better planned wardrobe and less spur-of-the-moment buying:

- (1) What garments from last year can be used again? (2) What kind of garments are needed to round out the wardrobe? (3) Where will they be worn? (4) What type is needed for such occasions? (5) How much time can be taken to make the garment, or how much money can be spent on it?

Columnist Turns Poet

By PHIL MCINTOSH

What has happened to the request for later hours? Seems that things always start out with a bang then die without even a trace of smoke. Are you people afraid to follow up your proposals for fear they will fail? Perhaps you think if things "flop" quietly, they will be forgotten along with the fact that you "fopped" with them. We don't care if you're right or wrong; you started it rolling—now push it. At least make some kind of noise.

And now we have a poem for all you nature boys—and girls. Just by coincidence it happens to be about:

NATURE?

Have you ever been up in the morning
When the ground is all covered with dew?
Heard the birds in the trees,
Felt that wonderful breeze,
That so often gives people the flu?

Have you walked through the woods in the evening
When the sun is a glorious red?
Through the briars and the thorns,
Till your feet hurt with corns,
And you're tired and you wish you were dead?

Have you slept 'neath the stars
in the summer
When the air is all filled with delight?

Where the rattlesnakes crawl,
And the crickets just bawl,
And you can't sleep a wink all the night?

Have you lived in the glory of nature?

Have you gazed at her beauty supreme?

All the rocks and the rills,
And eroded old hills;
I think I'll just stay home and dream.

This is your lucky day; we have yet another poem! This one is dedicated to a close friend of ours who recently received a "Dear John" letter.

A girl is like a fisherman;
She baits and throws her hook,
Then waits with anxious beating heart

To see if it gets took,
And by and by some poor dumb
fish

Will take a healthy bite,
And she's just more determined,
The more he tries to fight,
She wonders if the hook will hold
Or if the line'll break;

The Roadrunner

Runner Confesses Faulty Predictions

By JOHN MARCUS

(I am offering to the public, at a cut rate, some of the columns that I have begun writing in the past, and then discarded for one reason or another. Anyone wishing to purchase one of these unfinished gems may inquire, John Marcus, Kernel. Here are a few examples.)

This column was written in October, shortly before the start of the current basketball season.

The outlook for the coming basketball season is a dim one indeed.

This writer believes Kentucky will have a struggle to reach fourth place in the SEC. Gone are the Wildcat stars, nothing is left! Gerry Calvert is definitely too small for big time ball. Ed Beck is too clumsy. John Crigler will never score over two points in one game. The big question mark is Johnny Cox, whom I believe has not got the stamina for strenuous court play. Cox is skinny and will fold before the season is a week old. The glorious days of NCAA play are gone forever. . . .

Here is a column that was left unfinished during the summer months:

But she don't worry too darn much—
There's more fish in the lake.
Of course if this one gets away
She'll swear it weighed ten pound.

But if she gets it in the boat
She don't know what she's found.
And when that joyous catch is made,

The fish has met his fall;
There's nothin left but cleanin,
And that's no fun at all.

So there he lays, half dead, all hers,
He saw the hook too late;
And half the time she'll throw him back

And try another bait.
So if we have no readers now, we'll rise and meet our fate. There must be something here to praise, we'll try at a later date. AND THAT'S IT!

The big question mark on the University of Kentucky campus is who will be selected the University's next President? Many people favor the choice of a local man, such as Dean Stahr, or Dean Dickey. These believers are being foolish. Though Dean Dickey is undoubtedly a good man for the job, the board will pass him over in favor of an outsider. The word is that a man from Harvard or Yale will be shipped in and . . .

Here's a Jim Dandy that was whipped up this fall:

The parking problem is solved at last! No longer will space tormented students rue the day they bought a car. The University has eliminated the problem once and for all. Parking lots have been established at various points on the campus and there is room for all. No long walks! No parking tickets! Space, space, space . . .

This was discarded last spring but may be of use to someone:

The bombing incidents on campus this year have been unfortunate affairs. But at least one thing has been gained. Never again will the boom of an exploding bomb be heard inside these Ivied Halls . . .

Here's a real scoop that failed to get into print:

The coming SGA election is in the bag. For once an election is decided before the votes are counted. The Constitutionals have a strong platform to stand on and the United Student party has overplayed their hand. The only question seems to be how wide a margin the Constitutionals will . . .

Another hardly touched masterpiece:

The students are aroused at last. Finally conscious of the utterly ridiculous curfew hours they are asked to keep, the students have formed a committee to check into similar situations on other campuses for comparison. No longer will 12:30 a.m. be the witching hour for harassed young ladies at the girls' dorms . . .

Anyone wishing to obtain these words of wisdom will inquire at . . . Until next week, beep beep.

UK To Get $35,000 Gift From Science Foundation

The National Science Foundation will give the University of Kentucky $35,000 for a summer science institute, University President Frank G. Dickey announced. The funds will be primarily used for student scholarships, he said.

The Institute, which will last from Aug. 5 to Aug. 30, will be for elementary, secondary, and college science teachers and school administrators. Dr. Dickey said enrollment will be limited to 100 participants.

Dr. Erland Ritchie, physics professor at Centre College, will direct the workshop which will offer four credit hours under the title of Education 175. Credit can be obtained by both graduate and under-graduate students, the UK president said.

Dr. Dickey said the UK institute would be preceded by five regional conferences at other state colleges.

SuKy To Study School Spirit

School spirit is an intangible but often non-existent phenomenon at the University of Kentucky — will be looked into scientifically by SuKy, the University's official pep club.

SuKy, in an attempt to further this spirit, will distribute questionnaires pertaining to the subject on Monday, March 4.

Among questions students will be asked are "What is school spirit?" "Does UK have it?" "If not, what can be done to promote it?" or, if it does exist here, "How can it be improved?"

The organization plans to make the questions more specific in the hopes of obtaining some concrete answers to guide it in increasing this school spirit.

Sandy Kitchen, chairman of the committee which will formulate the questionnaire, said the results would be used to aid SuKy next fall in planning their program for the school year.

"The results, we hope, will enable us to see what the students' ideas on the subject are so that when we re-organize this spring, we will be able to do so with an eye towards the opinions and wants of the students themselves," Miss Kitchen said.

Coffee Chat Plans Panel Discussion

"The Student Union and You," will be discussed at a Coffee Chat meeting at 4 p.m. Monday.

Purpose of the meeting is to interest students in the Student Union Board and its activities. The nine members of the Board will discuss functions of the Board and qualifications for membership.

The meeting will be in the Music Room of the Student Union Building and is open to students.

Louisiana is named after King Louis XIV of France.

Dr. Morris C. Cline, of the College of Education, was named by the Athletic Commission of Kentucky to supervise the 11th Regional High School Basketball Tournament held in the College March 6, 7, 8, 9.

SOCIAL-LITES by Moira Quinn

George Washington, New Pledges Crowd Spotlight

My goodness, how tempus does fugis. I can't believe that it's Friday again. Really you'd think I'd be used to the idea by now since it's happened about this time every week for as long as I can remember.

But this is an ultra special Friday being not only George Washington's birthday but also James Russell Lowell's. Poor George must be frightfully embarrassed by the way people remember his birthday every year. After all things like this tend to date a man.

Well, enough supercircumped-ambulation (translation: extreme beating around the bush) and down to things essential.

The biggest item on the social calendar for tonight is the UK's Founder's Day Program. The SAE's, Lambda Chi's, Phi Tau's will blast tonight as they entertain the female influences in their lives at their house parties tonight.

The Tri Delt's will frolic at their annual formal tonight at the SUB and the Kappa's will feast at their scholarship banquet.

The Big Blue will tangle with Alabama tomorrow night and after the game... the AGR's, KA's, PiKA's, ZBT's, Sig Ep's, Alpha Sigma Phi's, and the Phi Sig's invite you to spend a gay evening at their house parties.

Farm House will hold a dance in the Social Room and a Sweater Swing will be in full upstairs, full swing that is.

Monday, another basketball game is on the agenda, this time with Auburn. The KD's will stuff the SAE's with goodies on Tuesday and the Theta's will play hostess to the Kappa Sigs.

Wednesday and Thursday are the days for voting for Mardi Gras Queen. Also on Thursday, the Phi Tau's will feast the Alpha Gam's.

Many congratulations to Sylvia Jett, the 1957 Kentuckian queen and to her court, Nancy Saufley, Jane Thornberg, Jane Brock, Susan Haselden, Sally Wiedenhofer, and Nancy Combs. The judges certainly must have had a difficult time making their decisions between all of the lovely candidates.

Double felicitations go to both the new sorority pledges and also to the chapters for putting pins on thirty-five top girls.

The new sorority pledges are: Alpha Delta Pi: Gail Acree, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Alice Bartlett, Shelbyville; Loretta Joseph, Versailles; Norma Kays, Louisville; Josette Lavaux, Indianapolis; Ann Lee Robinson, London; Patty Sims, Cynthiana.

Alpha Gamma Delta: Lynda Barlow, Louisville; Sara K. Hancock, Russellville; Evelyn O'Dell, Russellville; Connye Williams, Ashland; Sally Yelton, Bellevue.

Alpha Xi Delta: Donna Lou Gosney, Madison, W. Va.

Chi Omega: Peggy Barnes, Princeton; Mikell Gorman, Lexington; Elizabeth Neel, Harlan.

Delta Zeta: Margaret Howard, Dunlap; Patricia Massie, Maplewood, N. J.

Kappa Alpha Theta: Ronnie Blakemore, Shelbyville; Anne Crawford, Lexington; Betty Gragg, Lexington; Lyland Green, Shelbyville; Nancy Howard, Arlington, Va.; Judy Lemons, Amarillo, Tex.; Lea Pepper, Ft. Thomas; Sandra Radcliffe, Charleston, W. Va.; Diana Rice, Irvine.

Kappa Delta: Donna Lawson, Louisville; Pat Marcum, Berea; Jo Ann Mercer, Greenville; Peggy Sisk, Hopkinsville; Tobey Taylor, Cataumet, Mass.

Kappa Kappa Gamma: Virginia Colaric, Chicago; Virginia Rawitzer, Lexington; Mary Jean Wolf, Frankfort.

Here are a few of the college expressions used in other parts of the country. "One on the city" is a new California way to order a glass of water. "Prehistoric" is a cutting remark for people acting rowdy. It's no honor to be tapped for "Omega Tau Lambda" at Purdue U... it's campus slang for being "OTL" or "Out-To-Lunch."

And the most priceless remark of all is anything awfully repulsive is "Enough to choke a maggot."

Before I go I feel I should inform the reading public that Phil MacIntosh, Delt, is not engaged to Shirley Marcum but only pinned.

Greco Called 'High Caliber' By Columnist

By DAVID P. SLACK

For the readers of this column who suffer from anemia, or for those who are just downright lethargic, my prescription for an infallible cure-all would indubitably be to spend two and one-half hours as the guest of Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet. If the patient in question refuses to be revived by this two and one-half hours of passionate foot stomping, sensuous writhings, and Yma Sumacian yodeling, then he or she is beyond help.

Greco and troupe invaded Memorial Coliseum last Tuesday night with what must surely be the most comprehensive study of the Spanish art of dance ever seen in these parts. And I daresay, probably, by all counts, the most authenticated. With Greco were at least seventeen performers of astonishingly high caliber, plus one pianist and several guitarists. It all added up to an evening of quite unusual entertainment.

The only adverse opinion, shared by a number of Tuesday night's concert-goers, seems to have been the same as expressed during the visit of the Yugoslav Dancers, and that is — a certain undeniable amount of general boredom is always apt to result from such a concentrated dose of specialized material. In other words, there can be too much of a good thing. This reviewer will not quibble one way or the other about said observance, however it is my opinion that any tedium present could have been avoided by the use of scenery, moderate changes of this scenery, and by the use of an orchestral accompaniment. Both are rendered impossible by the physical limitations of the Coliseum, and the traveling limitations of the Greco troupe.

Greco and company can soon be seen in the Mike Todd-AO production of "Around The World In 80 Days," where one assumes proper locale is supplied. Until then, one must be satisfied with this personalized and engaging visit from "the world's foremost Spanish dancer."

The fact that Boeing is an "engineers' company" is important to your success. At Boeing, you'd work with, and for, engineers—men who talk your language, understand and appreciate your work.

Boeing encourages graduate study, reimbursing full tuition and fees, plus an additional amount for incidentals. Every six months, each Boeing engineer is given a merit review—a personal opportunity for recognition and advancement. The company's steady, rapid growth assures plenty of opportunities to move ahead. At Boeing, engineers hold positions right to the top.

Another advantage: Boeing assignments are interesting. You'll work on such famous projects as the 707, America's first jet transport; the intercontinental B-52, the nation's principal long-range jet bomber; the supersonic BOMARC guided missile, and top-secret programs that probe beyond the frontiers of the known. At Boeing, you'll be in a young, expanding industry, one with its major growth still ahead.

So whether you plan a career in civil, mechanical, electrical, aeronautical or industrial engineering, physics or mathematics (or related fields), drop in for a person-to-person discussion about your future at Boeing.

Indonesian Ambassador To Speak Here In April

The Indonesian ambassador to the United States will appear as a principal speaker at the University of Kentucky's 10th annual Foreign Language Conference, scheduled for April 23-27.

The ambassador, Moekerto Notowidigdo, has accepted an invitation to speak Thursday night, April 25. Accompanying the ambassador to the UK campus will be several officials from the Embassy of Indonesia, including the educational and cultural counselor.

Announcement of the participation of the Indonesian delegation in the language affair was made jointly Monday by the Embassy of Indonesia and Dr. Herman E. Spivey, dean of the UK Graduate School and chairman of the University's Foreign Operations Committee.

The University of Kentucky is closely associated with the University of Indonesia as a result of a $1,235,000 contract between UK and the International Co-Operation Administration to provide educational and scientific services to the Indonesian school.

"We have invited Ambassador Notowidigdo and his aides to visit our campus in order to meet our faculty and staff and to view the University facilities," Dean Spivey said.

Ten UK experts in engineering and the supporting sciences of physics, mathematics and chemistry are now teaching and assisting in other developments at the University of Indonesia at Bandung, located on the island of Java.

The Indonesian ambassador has held his present post since 1953, and prior to that time he was associated with the United Nations. He was educated as a lawyer and economist at the University of Indonesia, and his experience includes several years as a civil service administrator.

Ambassador Notowidigdo's address at the Foreign Language Conference will follow an early afternoon International Relations program dealing with "Problems of Southeast Asia."

Participating in the international relations session, in addition to Indonesian spokesmen, will be representatives of Japan, the Philippines, India, Nationalist China, New Zealand and possible other nations of the region.

Dr. Jonah W. D. Skiles, head of the UK Department of Ancient Languages and Literatures and director of the Foreign Language Conference, said this morning that more than 600 language specialists from several different countries are expected to take part in the affair.

In past years, linguists from all sections of the United States and Canada and as many as seven for-ign countries have appeared during the conference.

"Papers relating to the language, literature or culture of any area of the world are accepted for presentation at the conference," Dr. Skiles asserted.

Agriculture Work Being Studied By Pakistanians

Thirteen educators from Pakistan are studying agriculture education and extension work in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics this semester.

James W. Whitehouse, agriculture extension, announced that the two women and 11 men that make up the group are from various fields.

Whitehouse said that during their four months in Kentucky these students will spend half of the time on the campus studying agriculture education, rural sociology. Two weeks will be spent as guest in farm homes throughout the state. These people will work for two weeks with county agents.

Vandy Game Indicates Basketball Officiating Must Be Improved

By SCOOP WHITE, Sports Editor

After watching the Kentucky-Vanderbilt game last Monday night, it seems to be an appropriate time to comment on BASKETBALL OFFICIATING.

At times this season it has been good, but much too often it has been lousy. The Vandy game was an example of bad officiating. The referees called it loosely during the first half and then during the second half when the game got closer, they called it tight, too tight. Basketball officials nowadays are controlling the roundball sport. Their frequent habits of blowing the whistle is ruining the game. Let the boys play say many sport fans. Well, something has to be done about improving the officiating.

As it stands at present, most referees in the SEC officiate basketball games as a sidelight to their regular occupation. The conference has 53 men signed to work the games. SEC coaches voice their opinion on this theory. They work daily with their teams on fundamentals of basketball. They believe they teach them the legal techniques of playing. Then when their game comes up, the men in the black striped shirts, who take time out from their other job, are the ones that have the decision as to how the game is to be played. Some coaches contend that referees know nothing about basketball. I wouldn't say that, but I do believe that coaches have a better knowledge of the game than do the officials. They spend more of their time with it.

Maybe a better training program is needed for the officials. Quite a few cage experts believe that officiating has not advanced as far along as the game itself. Basketball today is a much faster game than five years ago. The famous FABULOUS FIVE of Kentucky during 1948-49 did not run like this year's edition of the Wildcats. Also, the game today is more scientific than ever before.

Each coach has a program of his own on how to improve the officiating. Coach ADOLPH RUPP is no exception. He proposes that the SEC have only 14 referees and pay them an adequate salary for their work during the three month season. Also, to improve their knowledge of the teams in the conference which they are going to work, these officials could start five weeks before the season begins and visit each team for three or four days. Thus they would become acquainted to each team's style of play. I believe it would help the game grow more popular.

No matter how bad a call an official makes, I have never known a referee to call one intentionally. Granted they do make mistakes like anyone else. But I do think that on the whole the officiating in basketball could improve over what we fans have witnessed this season.

NCAA TICKETS—Students, you can get your tournament tickets for only $1.50 for each session, instead of the $3 price set for the non-student public. They are located above the walkway on the students' side of the Coliseum and also on the north end, both upstairs and downstairs. You can get them from now until tourney time in HARVEY HODGES' ticket office on the west side of the Coliseum.

SPORTS SHORTS—I had the pleasure of attending last week's game with Loyola in Chicago and was pleased with the excellent hospitality given the Kentucky team and Coach Rupp. It would be nice if some of our southern rivals would treat us like that. But there's nothing like southern hospitality. The Chicago writers were impressed with JOHNNY COX, whose performance there will help him gain some national honors next season. . . . The hand given ED BECK before the Vandy game was well deserved. . . . Spring football at UK might get underway this week if the weather holds out.

BIG TEN . . . It looks like Indiana or Michigan State has the best chance to represent their conference in the NCAA here. The Hoosiers currently lead with a 7-2 record, but the Spartans and Ohio State are tied for second with 7-3 marks. Furthermore, if the Buck eyes would happen to win the title, it would be too bad since they are on probation with the NCAA and are ineligible to compete in any postseason activity. As for a personal pick, I'll take Indiana. They've been hot lately.

SEC Title Seeking Kentucky Battles Alabama, Auburn

By LARRY VAN HOOSE

Alabama, the reigning dynasty of the SEC, comes to Memorial Coliseum tomorrow night to face the league leading Kentucky Wildcats, who appear to have worked themselves into line as successors to the crown and a place in the NCAA Regional Tournament.

Following the Alabama tilt, Coach Rupp's forces battle Auburn Monday night in the Coliseum. Auburn jumped to second place in the conference when they beat Kentucky-conqueror Tulane while the Cats were knocking off Vanderbilt.

ALABAMA

The Cats still remember the 101-77 defeat at the hands of Alabama last season which eliminated them from the conference chase. It was the first and last time Kentucky has allowed the century mark to be eclipsed by any team. The series between the two schools which started in 1923 stands at 36-8 in favor of Kentucky.

The pains of graduation have put the Tide out of contention for the crown, but Coach Gene Lambert, who is in his first season at the post vacated by Johnny Dee, has two of the SEC's top scorers in Jack Kubiszyn and Jim Fulmer. Kubiszyn is third with a 25.67 average and Fulmer, a 6-6 center, is hitting at a 21.23 clip, good enough for fifth place.

Ed Beck Tries A Tip

AUBURN

The Plainsmen from Auburn come to town ready to do battle with UK, who has never lost to an Auburn team in a series which dates back to 1921.

However, Coach Rupp's pace-setters can't forget the near upset last year when Auburn fell 82-81. Heading the offensive for the Tigers is 6-7 center, Bill McGriff, who led the Auburn team last season with a 15.9 average.

Graduation left Coach Joel Eaves with two veterans from his tough spoils of last season. One, McGriff, has become an offensive threat throughout the conference and the other, Henry Stunkie, a 6-0 senior knard, has improved with each game. Coach Eaves' most pleasant surprise comes in 6-5 Rex Frederick, a powerhouse under the boards who already holds Auburn's individual rebounding record for one season at 279 and he is only a sophomore.

Auburn plays Tennessee tomorrow night at Knoxville and is favored to make their league standing read 9-3 with a win over the Vols. Kentucky takes a 9-2 record into the Bama game and wins in the Cats' next two encounters will clinch the title.

UK Tankers Set For SEC

By BOB SMITH

With the championship SEC swimming meet just around the corner, the Kentucky Tankers will be trying to square themselves at the five hundred mark when they engage Eastern Maroons at 5 p.m. tonight and take on Xavier at 2 p.m. tomorrow in a pair of swim meets at the Coliseum pool.

The Catfish pulled their winning record up when they drowned Sewanee 52-33 last Friday in the Coliseum and followed through with a rout of Cincinnati 63-39 in the Beareats home tank.

Coach Algie Reece's finmen are pointing for the championship meet held in Lexington Feb. 28th, March 1st and 2nd. The Cats will be rated among the prominent contenders. While, a dark horse to unseat such established teams as Georgia Tech and Florida, UK may very well make its presence felt.

Eastern does not figure to prove too stern for Kentucky, but the Catfish may need this meet as a tuneup for dangerous Xavier tomorrow afternoon. The Ohioans defeated UK last year.

Kentucky won six out of nine events against Cincinnati. Roger Messick and Jim Ketzler were leading scorers for Kentucky, each winning two individual events. Messick, still undefeated, added the 60 yard free-style and the 100 yard free-style to his lengthy list of triumphs. Ketzler gained first places in the 200-yard butterfly and the 400-yard free-style.

Kentucky's potential in the SEC meet looks promising. Messick may prove the man to beat in the sprint races. David Wild, if he holds his present speed, should also be difficult to deal with. David Lentz and Olaf Haugen, point scorers against highly touted Florida, figure to aid the Wildcat cause in the conference meet.

Intramural volleyball began Tuesday night with 12 games being played. At the completion of the round robin schedule the three leaders in each division will compete in the tournament.

In division 1, defending champion SAE showed power in winning from Triangle, 15-13 and 15-2. KA won two straight from FH, 16-14, and 15-2. SX was hard pressed in both games, but managed to defeat PSK, 15-13 and 15-11.

Second division play saw LXA romp over ZBT, 15-8 and 15-7. ATO came back in the third game to defeat SPE, 15-12 in a close contest. ATO won the first game, 15-4, but SPE gained the win in the second encounter 15-9.

KS whipped AGR two games to one. They won the final game, 15-6, after romping 15-3 in the initial contest. AGR won the second match 15-11.

PKA looked impressive in the third division in walloping PKT, 15-1 and 15-6. DTD lost the first game to PDT, 9-15, but came back to win the next two by identical scores of 15-12. SN won on a forfeit over TKE.

In division four, the Independent Cats looked good in walloping Dorm I, 15-3 and 15-6. Newman Club beat BSU, 15-13 and 15-10. The SAE Independents won over Dorm II by forfeit.

Twenty-four teams have entered this year's round-robin as each has hopes of dethroning SAE, last year's winner over SPE in the final match. Among the twenty-four teams are 16 fraternities and eight independent outfits. All games are being played on Tuesday and Thursday nights in the Alumni Gym.

TIPS ON TOGS

By "LINK"

THOROUGHbred — The horse show button down sport shirt by "McGregor," called "The Equestrian," is a real thoroughbred of the Ivy League stables — sporting neat patterns and the authentic, full length back pleat—made of long wearing, washable cotton — this shirt is easy to wear — easy to maintain and easy on the "loot department."

LAST WEEK—I told you about the new cardigan jackets that have hit the market for spring. They are proving to be extremely popular all across the country. I can easily see why. They are so versatile—the fashion magazines are showing them with bermuda shorts now and it makes a cool combination (in more ways than one!)—seems as though Rex Harrison is responsible for the popularity of this garment.

A FAD?—Is Ivy League a fad? I have been asked a hundred times, and all I can say is "I don't think so"—and I hope not—I like the "Ivy look" as it is flattering to all ages. Some people have the mistaken idea that it is confined to college groups but that isn't so—lots of business men like the natural lines and conservative air of the true Ivy. It certainly isn't new, but just now gaining the national recognition it deserves.

COTTON—Ties that give the appearance of wool—in deep, subdued tones and smartly striped, will make a handsome addition to your tie collection—and a handsome complement to your suits or sport coats.

MAN — That was a real thriller with Vandy, last Monday night — congrats to the "Cats".

So long for now,

Adrian Smith Sparkles In First Year For UK

By DON LESSLEY

"Everybody thinks about coming to Kentucky, but I didn't have a chance."

Adrian Smith, only the third junior college product to ever don a UK uniform, is a native Kentuckian. He was the leader for Farmington High school when it won its first trophy in the school's history. "Odie" led the team through the third district tournament in 1954 and went to the region as the number two team from that region, but the Gophers had the first and only trophy in the school's history.

While in high school, Adrian fell just short of the first region scoring crown. The 5-10 guard fell second to present teammate Harold Ross with a 28.8 average.

Following graduation and because of his lack of height, he received offers from only two colleges, one a junior college. Odie chose Northeast Mississippi Junior College over the four year school and at the end of the two years had made quite a name for himself.

He just missed the Junior college All-America his second year, but made both All-Conference and All-Regional both years. He led the team in scoring and in his sophomore year finished with a 27.2 average to place fifth among all junior college scorers. His two-year point total was 1524. He led Northeast to the conference title both years he attended the school.

"Rochell was awful good," was his answer as to who the best player he had faced. "I was really pleased to get my UK offer. I'd like to play pro-ball but I doubt if I ever will."

At present Smith has 142 points for an 8.4 scoring average in 17 games, this includes the Vanderbilt game. Odie got his big chance at Kentucky when ace guard Vernon Hatton was sidelined with an appendix operation and he filled the gap very well.

About next year, Adrian said, "We ought to be better except for the loss of Calvert and we'll miss him an awful lot."

Seaton Pleads For More Tracksters

Kentucky track mentor Don Cash Seaton has issued a plea for interested men to try out for the Wildcat cinder squad. Openings are plentiful on both the varsity and freshman squad. Capable distance men and field men are especially needed.

With such proven competitors as Dave Franta and Ray Blasingame currently on the shelf nursing foot injuries, the thinlies have a rocky road ahead of them in order to get ready for the first meet next month.

Franta, freshman sensation of last year, broke an ankle pole vaulting during the off season. Dave's foot is now out of its cast and Don Pressman, UK track trainer, expects him to be fit by the end of March. Blasingame, the big blonde from the west coast, reinjured for the second time a foot damaged in football several years ago.

Another blow was struck against the Cats when captain Tom Jones, a pole vaulter, was declared ineligible because he had exceeded the amount of time an athlete is allowed to compete in varsity sports.

Manager Wanted

Track Coach Don Seaton has announced an opening for a capable student interested in managing the varsity cinder squad. He should be either a second semester freshman or a sophomore, not on academic probation with the University. Applicants may see Dr. Seaton in his office at the Alumni Gym during regular school hours.

UK Women Open Cage Season Here

The UK Women's Basketball Team will open its 1957 cage season with Miami University of Ohio at 3 p.m. this afternoon in Alumni Gym.

The girls from Ohio have one of the better women's teams in the nation and are coming to Lexington with revenge on their minds. Last year the UK girls defeated Miami at Cincinnati 36 to 35 for Miami's only loss in three years.

UK Coach Jane Bell has not decided on the starting lineup, but the forwards will be either Joan Winkler, Pat Blackburn, Joyce Seymour, Linda Hartson, or Pat Brown. The guards are Pat Scott, Pat Burke, Marie Edwards, Shirley Adams, Pat McShane, Bernice Jones, or Elizabeth Foster.

Playing rules vary slightly from the men's game. The girls do not employ a center, but instead use three guards and three forwards.

Officials for today's game will be Peggy Stanaland, University of Louisville, and Betty Blanton, University of Kentucky.

Fencing Tourney Scheduled Sunday

Anyone interested in fencing? Well, if you are there is a tournament this Sunday afternoon at 1:30 in the Henry Clay high school gym.

The tourney is open to both men and women, who have never won a fencing match in actual competition or have played on a varsity team. There is no entry fee, the participants must furnish their own equipment, and medals will be awarded for the top three winners. This tournament is being sponsored by the Lexington Fencing Club.

The story also caused an investigation to be held of the machinery of the Economic Security Dept. As a result, a change in procedure was instituted whereby the state treasurer now writes the jobless insurance and public assistance checks and has custody of canceled checks — tasks previously assumed by the department.

The Kentucky Press Association citation, which came on Jan. 25 during the annual KPA convention, commended Vance for "journalistic accomplishment of the highest order."

The citation read, in full, "The Kentucky Press Association formally commends Kyle Vance for journalistic accomplishment of the highest order through tenacious devotion to duty in the face of frustrating obstacles. He exemplified the traditional role of the true newspaperman as a representative of the people's right to be informed, regardless of opposition, whether overt or subtle."

Vance, 42, has been with the Associated Press in Kentucky since 1942. He worked at both the Louisville and Lexington bureaus before being assigned to Frankfort last July. Before coming with the AP, he worked as a newspaperman in Johnson City, Tenn.

During his stay in Lexington, Vance covered UK football and basketball games for several years.

His address is sponsored by the UK chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional Journalistic fraternity. The speech will be open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Night Enrollment Reaches New Peak

A new record for spring enrollment in night classes, operated by the College of Adult and Extension Education, has been reached. A total of 737 persons are enrolled, an increase of 63 over the previous spring of 1956.

A total of 44 classes this semester is the largest program ever offered at UK. For the past two semesters 1487 persons have enrolled in evening classes, an increase of 10 percent over last year's 1349 enrollment.

This spring, 63 applicants are University students taking night class as part of their regular schedule. Of the 309 adults enrolled, 13 are taking high school courses for credit, and 352 are non-credit students.

There are 31 classes offering regular credit in the Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, Education, and Commerce Colleges. Ten non-credit courses are offered in the professional fields along with four high school courses, and 4th, 5th, and 6th grade children can take a special non-credit course in beginning Latin.

A rapid growth of evening classes for the last three years has been due largely to the greatly increased interest in adult education on the part of local industry, retail business, professional groups as well as individual citizens.

Course Will Be Offered For Freshman Leaders

A course designed to train potential leaders among UK's male freshmen will soon be offered.

All freshmen men are eligible to apply for the six-week leadership training course, to be sponsored by the University YMCA. The first class will be held at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7, in the small dining room of the Donovan Hall cafeteria. Following meetings will be held during the dinner hour on Thursdays.

Freshmen interested in applying for the course may pick up application blanks at the YMCA employment office in the Student Union Building. Presidents of campus organizations containing freshmen men are also being asked to suggest persons for the course, according to Howard W. Stephenson, YMCA assistant secretary.

Stephenson, who will coordinate the training course, said the purpose of the program is to train leaders for all campus organizations.

The College of Education has had an increase of 43 student teachers on the elementary level; 12 women and 21 men in the field of physical education.

Dr. William R. Willard, dean of the College of Medicine, spoke to the Blue Grass Hospital Conference Tuesday concerning the proposed development plans for the medical school and hospital.

How does it feel to win a billion dollar bet?

WELL you just did. Detroit was so sure you'd like their new cars they invested $1 billion in 1957 model change-overs. Detroit's winning its bet, getting its money back. But the real winner in two ways—is you.

First of all, when you get a new car, you'll be getting the finest car money ever bought. A car as exciting to look at as to drive. With new, lower styling, exciting new colors. Powered with surging horsepower for the super highway age.

Second, you'll cash in on a booming economy. When Detroit produces cars everybody wants, they keep more people working. Help more people buy them. There's more money to support more businesses. More job opportunities for you.

Backing up the dramatic newness of the 1957 cars is the sturdy dependability the world associates with American cars. We know about this dependability because we work hand-in-hand with car manufacturers to put it there. Every make of American car uses Timken® tapered roller bearings to reduce friction—help handle the heavier loads of today's high speed driving.

The vital role Timken bearings play in making cars and machinery for all industry better than ever helps keep us steaming ahead.
